

GEMSTONE ARTIST ROUGH EVALUATION POLICIES & REQUEST

Contact John Bailey directly for FREE photo-based evaluation and to inquire about evaluation fees, shipping address, and to schedule shipping of your gems.

Rough "evaluation" means determining the potential suitability of a stone (or small parcel) for the speculative prospect of custom-cutting and/or jewelry production. Rough evaluation fees are for receiving, unpacking, examining, evaluating suitability, selecting and sorting suitable stones, generating a cutting plan that considers best value for any suitable stones, consulting with the client about the cutting plan and their goals for the finished stones, re-packing the stones, and delivering them to the post office for return shipping.

I understand that "evaluation" is not and does not include a lab identification of a gem rough, an appraisal of the value of a gem rough, a guarantee the stone will have a specific size, weight, color, or value after being cut, or even a guarantee that a stone will survive the rigors of cutting.

I understand that gemstone processing is highly speculative, and that a best estimate is not a guarantee of yield or value. I understand that John Bailey is not an appraiser, and that his best estimates of potential or value should never be construed as an appraisal, nor a contract to produce a particular market-value outcome.

I understand the processes of sawing, dopping, grinding, polishing, setting, and other processes that may be undertaken on my gems will involve loss of size and weight of the materials. I understand that the materials which are cut-away are ground into powder, and except in special circumstances arranged beforehand, I do not expect those wasted/powdered portions to be returned.

I understand that there may be stresses, cracks, cleavages or other sensitivities in these materials that may cause them to break or even disintegrate under the rigors of processing. I understand that the risk of these things cannot be foreseen or prevented, and I agree to hold harmless John Bailey, Inc, employees, assigns, and contractors for any loss or damage whatever.

Shipping policies are here: <http://gemstoneartist.com/policies/Shipping.pdf>.

Cutting Fees and policies are here: <http://gemstoneartist.com/policies/CuttingFees.pdf>.

I have read and understand the above, including the linked policies, and I agree to them.

I am submitting rough gem materials as described on the next page for evaluation / cutting / carving / jewelry production, and I authorize John Bailey, Inc., employees, assigns, or contractors to analyze the enclosed materials, including grinding and polishing "windows" and immersing in various oils for the purpose of identification and evaluation pursuant to processing as gems and/or into finished jewelry.

I understand that John Bailey or his employees or contractors will contact me by telephone at the number I provide to consult regarding the potentials of my materials, or about, or during the processing of them if work is to be undertaken.
